Readings for the ninth edition of the microeconomics textbook are posted in each module on the discussion forum. These postings specify the page numbers for each module, and say which end of chapter problems are most useful to prepare for the final exam. Practice problems are in separate postings. The final exam problems are based on the readings, homework assignments, and practice problems on the discussion forum.

You may also use the sixth, seventh, or eighth editions of this textbook. The page numbers for earlier editions are in separate postings. The substantive changes in the textbook are slight among these editions, but the final exam problems are based on the ninth edition.
